Gather money!

So, since 4 of us are here, we will need 800 won... You want what? That's 100 won each !

It's 200 won from the shop in front of school though...

Anyway, Han-Gyul, go!

Why do I have to go? I am not from here.

Nee knows the ways around here, so take her with you.

It's dark out there, so take your time.

...

It will be on me. Get your coins back to your pockets.

Bom, I was told that your grades were too bad in the 1st year. What happened?

Huh?

Why do you ask?

Just curious.

I guess I wasn't thinking? I mean everyone was studying, so I did...

Then at one point, I thought why I am studying.

You see, my mom runs a small supermarket. So, all I need is basic math. Why do I need to study such complicated math ?

I am not going to use that outside of classes. Why do I bother?

Well, I am not saying I don't like to study. I do like literature but that's not good enough for teachers obviously.

I do understand that I need good grades in all subjects to enter a good uni. I get that. My brains says yes but my heart says no.

I want to be judged on subjects I like and am good at but that's not going to happen in this country.

수학의 저주

Eventually, I felt like I was wasting time.

And also eventually, I started to read other books. So, long story short, here I am.

Grades fell obviously.

What do you want to become in the future? Knowing that will help you focus.

I don't know. And I don't think thinking hard about that will change anything at this point.

And quite frankly, I don't care about some future I have no idea about. What's important to me is the present and what I can do and enjoy. I will eventually know what I want to be at one point.

How about you? What do you want to be?

Rather than that...

I want to remain.

Phew

Is it because I studied hard last night? I am happily hungry.

What does that have to do with anything?

Han-Gyul has been missing every lunch time.

That's not new. He probably ate lunch as quick as possible and went out to play.

Leave the guy alone and let's eat !

S, sure...

Wow, you eat quite a lot.

Is it because it's fall?

Whoa?!

Oh! This is my fav ! Smells nice also !

Can I try one ?
